SUMMARY OF COMMENTS: Four (4) comments were received.

COMMENT: Joseph A. Nicholson, President, Missouri Association of Cosmetology Schools submitted a comment regarding paragraph

(2)(A)5. Mr. Nicholson requested clarification of when the list be submitted; when the school originally opens or each time a school renews their license, or each time the kit changes? If a school chooses to use community supplies as opposed to individual kits, how will this affect those particular schools? In general, the Missouri Association of Cosmetology Schools would support this regulation for schools that are not accredited, however, schools that are already accredited comply with this type of regulation. The National Accrediting Commission of Cosmetology Arts & Sciences (NAC-CAS) handbook of Standards and Criteria, Standard VIII, Criteria I states that "The school makes available to students textbooks, supplementary instructional materials, and equipment needed to fulfill program and course requirements." The association feels that a rule as specific as this one will greatly constrict the ways that accredited schools can deliver education to their students. Many schools use community supplies and then as a reward for completing the freshman program or even graduation, reward the student with their own individual kit. In some cases we have schools that do this at no

RESPONSE AND EXPLANATION OF CHANGE On September 20, 2004 the board reviewed all comments received regarding the proposed amendment. The board voted to make changes referring to the time frame in which students shall receive textbooks and student kits.

COMMENT: Joseph A. Nicholson, President, Missouri Association of Cosmetology Schools submitted a comment regarding paragraph (2)(A)9. The association agrees with this proposed rule change for non-accredited schools. However, accredited schools are already held to strict guidelines and criteria about their curriculum and lesson planning by their accrediting body. If schools were forced to submit these lessons plans would it be a matter of simply submitting them or would they have to be approved. If they had to be approved, who would it be that was approving them? Would the board contract with someone that has at least a Master's degree in education to look over and approve these?

RESPONSE: On September 20, 2004 the board reviewed all comments received pertaining to the proposed amendment. The board determined that the basis for the comments made regarding school accountability appears to be self-serving on behalf of the accredited schools licensed in Missouri. Chapter 329, RSMo does not require cosmetology schools to be accredited by any accrediting agency; therefore, the board maintains that all schools licensed pursuant to Chapter 329, RSMo should be held to the same accountability.

COMMENT: Cheryl Barnett, Vice President, House of Heavilin Beauty Colleges submitted a comment concerning subparagraph (4)(A)5.E. Ms. Barnett stated that under "School Requirement," the amendment states that the school shall employ and have present a minimum of one (1) licensed instructor for every twenty-five (25) students enrolled and scheduled to be in attendance. Section 329.040, RSMo clearly specifies that schools of cosmetology employ and have present a licensed instructor for every twenty-five (25) students in attendance and one to ten (1–10) additional student may be in attendance with the assistant of an instructor trainee. Ms. Barnett requested the amendment be changed to conform to section 329.040, RSMo.

COMMENT: Joseph A. Nicholson, President, Missouri Association of Cosmetology Schools submitted a comment regarding subparagraph (4)(A)5.E. The association appreciates that the board is sensitive to the different needs of our educational institution in allowing this flexibility for our students. The association would prefer that the student ratio mentioned in this proposal be changed to twenty-five (25) students present to one (1) licensed instructor.

COMMENT: Joseph A. Nicholson, President, Missouri Association of Cosmetology Schools submitted a comment regarding paragraph (5)(C)1. The association disagrees with this rule. Lesson plans that are used in an educational institution for programs or for particular classes may not be made by the instructor that is teaching that course. The school may have standardized lesson plans or even have a curriculum developer or director of education that is responsible for preparing the institution's lesson plans. Submitting one (1) lesson plan for one (1) class would not give anybody an accurate description of what type of curriculum is being delivered in that institution. RESPONSE: On September 20, 2004 the board reviewed all comments received pertaining to the proposed amendment. The board determined that the basis for the comments made regarding school accountability appears to be self-serving on behalf of the accredited schools licensed in Missouri. Chapter 329, RSMo does not require cosmetology schools to be accredited by any accrediting agency; therefore, the board maintains that all schools licensed pursuant to Chapter 329, RSMo should be held to the same accountability.

COMMENT: Cheryl Barnett, Vice President, House of Heavilin Beauty Colleges submitted a comment concerning subsection (5)(E). Ms. Barnett stated that accredited cosmetology schools must already account for completion, licensure and placement rates to a nationally accrediting agency. These rates are reported on an annual basis to the accrediting agency, who in turn verifies the reported rates. Special low outcomes requirements are placed on schools not meeting the minimum required standards. The standards are set by the accrediting agency, National Accrediting Commission of Cosmetology Arts & Sciences (NACCAS), and are based on many years of data from hundreds of schools throughout the country. These accountability standards should apply only to those schools who are not accredited and therefore are not monitored by another agency or be eliminated entirely. It is Ms. Barnett's understanding that accountability requirements were to be set out because of changes in the law to allow for credit hours. If this is the case, then why not apply them to unaccredited, credit hour schools only? At the very least the required percentages should match those of the accrediting agency, sixty percent (60%) and not be for first time candidates only.

COMMENT: Gina Kinion, President, Elaine-Steven Beauty College submitted a comment regarding subsection (5)(E). Ms. Kinion requested to know who would be monitoring the pass/fail rate of schools for written and practical. She feels that the office should be monitoring this situation and not the entire board. If the entire board monitors the situation and it is handled in closed session, any school owners on the board could use this information (unfairly) as a marketing tool. If this situation is going be handled by the board, then this should be done in open session for all to hear.

COMMENT: Joseph A. Nicholson, President, Missouri Association of Cosmetology Schools submitted a comment regarding subsection (5)(E). The association would support this regulation if it applied only to non-accredited schools. Accredited institutions are already required to meet certain benchmarks concerning pass/fail rates, placement rates, and completion rates. It is unclear in the proposed rule how this would be monitored, what the formula would be, who would have access to this information and what would be done with the information.

RESPONSE: On September 20, 2004 the board reviewed all comments received pertaining to the proposed amendment. The board determined that the basis for the comments made regarding school accountability appears to be self-serving on behalf of the accredited schools licensed in Missouri. Chapter 329, RSMo does not require cosmetology schools to be accredited by any accrediting agency; therefore, the board maintains that all schools licensed pursuant to Chapter 329, RSMo should be held to the same accountability.

COMMENT: Cheryl Barnett, Vice President, House of Heavilin Beauty Colleges submitted a comment concerning paragraph (7)(U)1. Ms. Barnett stated that the language should be clear that this means only the basic cosmetology textbook. Ms. Barnett stated that their school, and many other who use the Pivot Point System, issues a large number of books. Although the basic textbook is issued on the first day of school, other books that they choose to provide are issued as that class session is scheduled. Certain other books are issued during the freshman classroom and others, such as "Long Hair Design" and "People Skills" are issued and training when the student is scheduled for the particular class.

COMMENT: Joseph A. Nicholson, President, Missouri Association of Cosmetology Schools submitted a comment regarding paragraph (7)(U)1. The association does support the fact that textbooks should not be copied, however, there are already copyright laws in place to prevent this from happening. There does not need to be a regulation added to the books to deal with this problem. The proposed regulation that states the students shall receive textbooks within forty-eight (48) hours of a start date the association disagrees with. Some schools give students textbooks at the appropriate time during their training. If a student were to start school on a Friday under this regulation, the school would have to issue the book to the student on a Sunday. The issue that a textbook has to be new is also a concern to the association. Public schools all across the United States issue textbooks over and over to students. The issuance of textbooks and how this is done will have no effect on the quality of education that a student receives

COMMENT: Margaret Tingler, Owner, Paris II Educational Center submitted a comment regarding subparagraph (7)(U)1.A. Ms. Tingler stated that Paris II distributes new textbooks and several handouts on the first day of school to new students for all programs. Students are required to sign for the books to show receipt.

RESPONSE AND EXPLANATION OF CHANGE: The board concurred and made changes to the section (7).

COMMENT: Cheryl Barnett, Vice President, House of Heavilin Beauty Colleges submitted a comment concerning paragraph (7)(Z)2. Ms. Barnett presumes the amendment was intended to mean start date rather than enrollment date, since many students enroll several months before the start date. Ms. Barnett suggested that this portion of the amendment should be entirely omitted. Schools need to be able to choose whether to maintain all working equipment for students to use or whether to issue a kit. House of Heavilin Schools maintain all equipment for classrooms and clinic for cosmetology students to use and we issue the student a kit upon graduation. This has been very nice for the students because they graduate with a brand new kit ready for the state board examination, rather than with a kit needing replenishment due to lost or stolen items or heavy usage. In addition, our schools maintain a tidier appearance without kits sitting everywhere and the sanitary condition of the kits is not an issue. Ms. Barnett further stated they do not contracturally charge the cosmetology student for a kit. They do issue kits to their manicuring students. That cost is reflected in the contract, and those kits are issued on the first day of training. Although Ms. Barnett would like to see this portion of the amendment eliminated entirely, she requested that the text of the rule refer to the contractural agreement between the student and the school to determine whether or not the school charges for a kit and if it does, when the contract states that it is to be issued to the student. Instead of requiring new schools to submit a list detailing all implements and equipment that will be issued in student kits, the board could require new and renewal schools to submit a list detailing all implements and equipment that will either be issued in student kits or available at the school for student use.

COMMENT: Gina Kinion, President, Elaine-Steven Beauty College submitted a comment regarding paragraph (7)(Z)2. Ms. Kinion stated some schools may not give a student a kit until they graduate and questioned whether the amendment was saying that schools are now required to give a kit. She didn't think the board should mandate when a school gives students their kits, as long as the school has sufficient supplies to provide everything a student needs without making the student purchase their own items.

COMMENT: Margaret Tingler, Owner, Paris II Educational Center submitted a comment regarding subparagraph (7)(U)1.A. Ms. Tingler stated as cosmetology students begin practicals they are required to sign out a school kit. The school kit contains all the implements needed for their mannequin work. Thirty (30) days into the program the school kit is checked back in and the students are given brand new kits, complete with appliances, implements and equipment needed to work on clients. Paris II is an accredited school that participates in Title IV financial aid programs. Student loans may not be drawn down on students until they have been in school thirty (30) days. If the schools can no longer delay the delivery of the kits, the student's up front cost would increase. This policy allows students to use loan funds to cover kit costs and the school is not left hanging with the cost of the kit if the student does not complete thirty (30) days. In addition, the United States Department of Education's Return to Federal Funds (Refund) policy no longer addresses the institutional costs for books and kits. In many cases, refunds made to the Title IV programs are very large and very little is retained to cover tuition, books and kits. By waiting thirty (30) days to distribute cosmetology kits, students do not owe such a large balance to the school, because more Title IV aid is retainable and the school is not left hanging with the cost of the kit. The nail technicians and basic manicuring students are issued their kit after one (1) week. For the first week they are using school implements, products, equipment and supplies to practice manicures and pedicures on each other. At the beginning of the second week, they reach a point when they need the implements, products, equipment and supplies included in the kit. Esthetic students do not need a kit until they are ready to graduate. The practical and clinic floor is set up with all necessary equipment, supplies, implements and products that are needed to teach the students and for their practicals and clinicals. Under these circumstances, the students do not need a kit while in school. However, Paris II does provide a "State Board Kit" at the end of the program. This kit contains most of the products, implements and supplies necessary for each task assigned by the board.

COMMENT: Joseph A. Nicholson, President, Missouri Association of Cosmetology Schools submitted a comment regarding subparagraph (7)(U)1.A. The association would rather a student use a quality piece of used equipment over a cheap new piece of equipment. Whether equipment is used or new has no bearing on what type of education the student is receiving. The association feels that the issuance of kits within forty-eight (48) hours is an unreasonable request to place upon schools. How and when schools issue kits should be an internal school decision.

RESPONSE AND EXPLANATION OF CHANGE: On September 20, 2004 the board reviewed all comments received regarding the proposed amendment. The board voted to make changes referring to the time frame in which students shall receive textbooks and student kits.

COMMENT: Joseph A. Nicholson, President, Missouri Association of Cosmetology Schools submitted a comment regarding subsection (11)(A). The association feels that the primary responsibility of the state inspector should be sanitation.

RESPONSE: On September 20, 2004 the board reviewed all comments received. The board determined that the basis for the remainder of the comments made regarding school accountability appears to be self-serving on behalf of the accredited schools licensed in Missouri. Chapter 329, RSMo does not require cosmetology schools to be accredited by any accrediting agency; therefore, the board maintains that all schools licensed pursuant to Chapter 329, RSMo should be held to the same accountability.

Title 4—DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT Division 110—Missouri Dental Board

Chapter 2—General Rules

ORDER OF RULEMAKING

By the authority vested in the Missouri Dental Board under sections 332.031, RSMo 2000 and 332.171.2, RSMo Supp. 2003, board adopts a rule as follows:

4 CSR 110-2.085 Definitions of Dental Specialities is adopted.

A notice of proposed rulemaking containing the text of the proposed rule was published in the Missouri Register on August 2, 2004 (29 MoReg 1162–1163). No changes have been made to the text of the proposed rule, so it not reprinted here. This proposed rule becomes effective thirty (30) days after publication in the Code of State Regulations.

SUMMARY OF COMMENTS: Three (3) comments were received by the board but were combined into one statement.

COMMENT: The commenters fully support the Missouri Dental Board's efforts to examine Missouri Code of State Regulations concerning the scope of practice of dentistry and perhaps revise the Code according to current dental standards of education and training. However, the commenters believe that the board is seeking to expand the scope of practice of oral and maxillofacial surgery by rule and in their view the language is incongruent with their training and actual practice.

RESPONSE: The board agrees that is has the statutory duty and authority to promulgate rules relating to dental specialty certification and licensure. Pursuant to section 332.171.2, RSMo, the board is required to issue a specialist's certificate to any registered and current licensed dentist in Missouri who has been certified in any specialty by an American board recognized by the American Dental Association. This section further provides that dentists may seek specialty licensure "for certification in one of the special areas approved by the American Dental Association for specialty practice." Oral and maxillofacial surgery is one (1) of nine (9) specialty practices currently approved by the American Dental Association. The board disagrees that it is expanding the scope of practice or oral and maxillofacial surgeons by this rule. The rule simply defines all the dental specialties, including oral and maxillofacial surgery, that are approved by the American Dental Association. The definition of oral and maxillofacial surgery in the rule is the specialty of dentistry which includes the diagnosis, surgical and adjunctive treatment of diseases, injuries and defects involving both the functional and esthetic aspects of the hard and soft tissues of the oral and maxillofacial region. Section 332.071, RSMo, defines dentistry to include dental operations or oral surgery, by any means or methods and diagnosing, prescribing and treating any disease, pain, deformity, deficiency, injury or physical condition of human teeth or adjacent structures and diseases or disorders or lesions of the oral regions. The definitions of dental specialties in the rule are the same as has been adopted by the American Dental Association and do not expand the scope of practice as defined in section 332.071, RSMo. The board made no changes to the text of the rule based on the comment.

COMMENT: The major concern in the commenter's statement appears to be the education and training of oral and maxillofacial surgeons. They believe that allowing persons without medical training, specifically single degree dentists, to perform surgical procedures on areas unrelated to a patient's oral and dental health exposes patients to undue risk and potential physical harm. Comparisons are made of the education and training of otolaryngologists and plastic surgeons to that of oral and maxillofacial surgeons.

RESPONSE: The board's rule does not address the education and training of the specialty practices although section 332.171.2, RSMo clearly provides the board with authority to establish by rule the minimum requirements for specialty certification. The board's existing rule, 4 CSR 110-2.090, on Certification of Dental Specialists sets out the requirements and procedures an applicant must fulfill prior to being certified as a dental specialist but it does not provide an explanation of what the specialties do. That is the purpose of this rule. Neither the authorizing statute nor the board's rules allow dentists to perform surgical procedures on areas unrelated to the practice of dentistry. But to address the concern regarding the education and training of oral and maxillofacial surgeons, the board has done research on the issue and disagrees that there is a substantive educational gap that exists between dentistry, specific to the practice of oral and maxillofacial surgeons, and the practice of surgery by physicians. Oral and maxillofacial surgeons must complete a minimum of four (4) years of dental school and earn a DDS or DMD degree and a minimum of four to seven (4-7) years of surgical training in a hospitalbased residency program. Oral and maxillofacial surgeons receive rigorous medical and surgical training in the one hundred one (101) accredited residency training programs in the United States. Many of the oral and maxillofacial surgeons in these advanced residency training programs also complete additional medical education to obtain an MD degree as part of an integrated oral and maxillofacial surgery residency program currently offered in forty-three (43) oral and maxillofacial residency training programs. Regardless of whether an oral and maxillofacial surgeon completes a residency training program as a single degreed or dual (dental/medical) degreed oral and maxillofacial surgeon, each oral and maxillofacial surgeon must complete similar requirements outlined in the Standards for Advanced Specialty Education Programs in Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery for a minimum of four (4) years of hospital-based surgical training in an accredited residency program. The medical education of oral and maxillofacial surgeons is completed in United States accredited medical schools and rotations are in accredited medical and surgical services. Residency programs must meet the same standards as any other residency program, requiring a minimum number of surgical procedures that fall within five (5) major categories of maxillofacial surgery, including trauma, maxillofacial and craniofacial procedures, temporomandibular joint procedures, surgery for pathologic conditions, cleft and reconstructive and cosmetic procedures, and placement of dental and craniofacial implants. The board made no changes to the text of the rule based on the comment.

Title 4—DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

Division 245—Real Estate Appraisers Chapter 9—Competency and Scope of Practice Standards

ORDER OF RULEMAKING

By the authority vested in the Real Estate Appraisers Commission under section 339.509(5), RSMo 2000, the commission adopts a rule as follows:

4 CSR 245-9.010 is adopted.

A notice of proposed rulemaking containing the text of the proposed rule was published in the Missouri Register on August 2, 2004 (29 MoReg 1175). Those sections with changes are reprinted here. This proposed rule becomes effective thirty (30) days after publication in the Code of State Regulations.

SUMMARY OF COMMENTS: One (1) comment was received.

COMMENT: Terry Sampson, Director, Right-of-Way Division of the Missouri Department of Transportation (MoDOT) submitted a comment. The department is concerned that section (3) which mandates co-signatures on certain types of appraisals issued by state certified residential real estate appraisers and state-licensed real estate appraisers, appears to be regulated beyond what is necessary or appropriate to meet the standards specified by the Appraisal Standards Board (ASB). The ASB has no standard requiring a state-certified general or other real estate appraiser to co-sign any appraisals done by other state-certified or state-licensed appraisers. It is a voluntary option for an appraiser who determines s/he is not competent alone to complete the appraisal assignment, but it is not mandated in every such appraisal. Also, the provisions limiting state-licensed real estate appraisers to only appraise a one-unit residential tract without a certified co-signer, has no supporting basis in the ASB standards or Missouri law, section 339.503(19), RSMo which both consistently refer to residential real estate as "containing not more than four (4) dwelling units." Nothing authorizes the commission to further restrict a licensed appraiser's authority to adopt section (3) as part of the proposed rule. Furthermore, if we assume that the new section (3) is valid it needs clarification. It is not clear whether a state-certified residential real estate appraiser who is conducting twenty (20) different appraisals of twenty (20) real estate tracts, each of which have only one to four (1-4) units, requires a state-certified general to co-sign. Likewise, if the same residential appraiser is appraising a residential structure which has been converted by its current owner into a business, but in all other respects is residential property, does the residential appraiser have to have a general appraiser co-sign the appraisal. For the MoDOT this is particularly important with regard to our statutory exemption from the requirement that their appraisal employees be licensed in section 339.501.5(3), RSMo. If one of their state-certified residential real estate appraiser employees does a value appraisal for MoDOT under federal standards of a small farm with a home on it, must the appraisal be co-signed by a state-certified general real estate appraiser, even though such a co-signature is not needed for state or federal property acquisition purposes? The proposed regulation speaks only of dual signatures. If it is going to be adopted at all, we suggest that this text be revised to authorize either dual signatures or its review by a state-certified general real estate appraiser, prior to its use. Review certification should be just as valid as a dual signature process.

RESPONSE AND EXPLANATION OF CHANGE: The committee concurred and made changes to the text of the rule.

4 CSR 245-9.010 Competency and Scope of Practice Standards

PURPOSE: This rule sets the scope of practice standards for the development and communication of real estate appraisals by statecertified general real estate appraisers, state-certified residential real estate appraisers, and state-licensed real estate appraisers.

- (3) Nothwithstanding the requirements and allowances of sections (1) and (2) of this rule, state-certified and state-licensed real estate appraisers shall limit their practice to the development and communication of real estate appraisals as follows:
- (B) State-certified residential real estate appraisers may perform appraisals on residential real estate of one to four (1-4) residential units without regard to transaction value or complexity and may perform appraisal consulting in the area of residential real estate, if, and only if, performed in compliance with all state and federal laws, rules and regulations pertaining to the appraisal assignment. This designation permits the appraisal of vacant or unimproved land that may be utilized for one to four (1-4) family purposes. This certification does not permit the appraisal of subdivisions or of agricultural real estate. Individual parcels of property located within a residential subdivision shall be considered residential real estate. For all other appraisals, the appraisal report shall be signed by the state-certified residential real estate appraiser and a state-certified general real estate appraiser. For the purposes of this rule, "agricultural real estate" shall be defined as improved or unimproved land with a highest and best use and primary purpose devoted to income production by crops, livestock and other products of the soil (fruit, pasture, timberland, etc).
- (4) A state-licensed or state-certified real estate appraiser shall be exempt from the provisions of section (3) of this rule if providing valuation services in a setting for which licensure or certification would not be required under section 339.501.5, RSMo. In all other instances, a real estate appraiser must comply fully with sections (1), (2) and (3) of this rule. Sections (1), (2) and (3) shall not be interpreted so as to except a real estate appraiser from compliance with the other sections.

Title 10—DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES Division 10—Air Conservation Commission Chapter 6—Air Quality Standards, Definitions, Sampling and Reference Methods and Air Pollution Control Regulations for the Entire State of Missouri

ORDER OF RULEMAKING

By the authority vested in the Missouri Air Conservation Commission under section 643.050, RSMo 2000, the commission amends a rule as follows:

10 CSR 10-6.061 is amended.

A notice of proposed rulemaking containing the text of the proposed amendment was published in the Missouri Register on August 2, 2004 (29 MoReg 1193–1196). Those sections with changes are reprinted here. This proposed amendment becomes effective thirty (30) days after publication in the Code of State Regulations.

SUMMARY OF COMMENTS: The Missouri Department of Natural Resources' Air Pollution Control Program received verbal comments from Mississippi Lime Company speaking on behalf of Mississippi Lime Company, Regulatory Environmental Group For Missouri (REFORM) and the St. Louis Regional Chamber Growth Association (RCGA) and written comments from The Boeing Company and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). The comments focused on support, language clarity, additions and changes.

COMMENT: The Boeing Company commented that the language proposed in paragraph (3)(A)3. allows for multiple pollutants to be exempt and still be over the threshold. This is probably not what was intended.

RESPONSE AND EXPLANATION OF CHANGE: As a result of this comment, paragraph (3)(A)3. has been reworded to clarify the intention of this new requirement.

COMMENT: The EPA commented that the proposed language— Operations such as—in subparagraph (3)(A)2.DD. is open ended and should be deleted because it lacks sufficient specificity to clearly determine which operations are covered by the exemption.

RESPONSE AND EXPLANATION OF CHANGE: As a result of this comment, subparagraph (3)(A)2.DD. has been changed to clearly specify which operations are exempt.

COMMENT: The EPA commented that subparagraph (3)(A)2.DD. should contain provisions applicable to any materials which could contain asbestos, beryllium or lead and describe how the source owner must measure to determine content.

RESPONSE AND EXPLANATION OF CHANGE: As a result of this comment, additional language has been added to subparagraph (3)(A)2.DD. to require material content determination based on review of Material Safety Data Sheets (MSDS), vendor material specifications and purchase order specifications.

Due to similar concerns addressed in the following two (2) comments, one (1) response that addresses these concerns can be found at the end of these two (2) comments.

COMMENT: The EPA commented on the reporting and record keeping requirements and pointed out that exemptions based on actual emissions are extremely difficult to monitor because of factors such as variability in emissions over time. Therefore, potential emissions are a better measure for applicability purposes, and they would generally not approve applicability limits based on actual emissions.

COMMENT: The Boeing Company commented that the proposed four (4)-ton volatile organic compound (VOC) threshold in subparagraph (3)(A)3.D. requires maintaining records in sufficient detail which is largely redundant in light of the Emissions Inventory Questionnaire (EIQ) requirement to report non-hazardous air pollutant VOC emissions from any emission unit with actual emissions greater than two hundred (200) lbs/year. For Title V permitted facilities, the proposed requirement to maintain records in sufficient detail to show compliance could be read to create an additional monitoring requirement on otherwise insignificant emission units in the operating permit.

RESPONSE AND EXPLANATION OF CHANGE: To address these comments, the department's Air Pollution Control Program has created a new subparagraph (3)(A)3.E. This new subparagraph contains language specific to reporting and record keeping with respect to emissions documentation and EIQ, MSDS, vendor and product purchase specifications. Activities that emit less than four (4) tons per year are by definition insignificant activities and, therefore, the operating permit rule does not apply to these emission units.

COMMENT: The EPA commented that if the state chooses to retain the actual emissions level, the rule should contain specific and detailed requirements for determining actual emissions, or should require that the source establish a specific plan, subject to approval by the state, showing how it will determine actual emissions. These requirements should apply to VOC emissions and to other regulated pollutants. The source should then be required to meet the operating parameters specified in the rule or in the plan on a continuous basis. In addition, the rule should specify the consequences of exceeding the emissions levels as specified in the rule. At a minimum, this should include a requirement to apply for a construction permit for the source within a specified time frame, in addition to penalties for violation of the limits.

RESPONSE AND EXPLANATION OF CHANGE: Language has been added in paragraph (3)(A)3. to require sources to keep records showing actual emissions are below the exemption thresholds. In an effort to address the specific and detailed requirement comment, the language refers to the EIQ emission calculation hierarchy as detailed in 10 CSR 10-6.110(3)(E). Typically, individual rules do not stipulate penalties. State rule 10 CSR 10-6.230 provides for administrative penalty mechanisms for violations and state statute 643.151.3. provides penalty assessments.

COMMENT: The EPA commented that section (4) should not be shown as not applicable because record keeping is required in previous sections of the rule.

RESPONSE AND EXPLANATION OF CHANGE: As a result of this comment the words—not applicable—have been removed from section (4).

COMMENT: The EPA commented that Missouri will need to submit a substantial analysis showing that the revisions will not interfere with attainment and maintenance of the National Ambient Air Quality Standards to determine state implementation plan (SIP) approvability.

RESPONSE: This rule was developed using a stakeholder process and the issue of whether these exemptions would cause air quality problems was discussed. The stakeholders concluded that these exemptions will not substantially impact air quality. In addition, staff prepared an analysis of this issue and this analysis will be submitted to the EPA as part of the request to include this revision as part of the SIP. It should also be noted that this rule only exempts sources from minor or de minimis permits. No wording changes have been made as a result of these comments.

COMMENT: Mississippi Lime Company's commenter provided direct and full support for this rulemaking on behalf of REGFORM, RCGA and Mississippi Lime Company.

COMMENT: The Boeing Company commented in writing that they conceptually support this rule action and specifically supported the exemption for certain machining operations.

RESPONSE: The department's Air Pollution Control Program appreciates this support. No wording changes have been made as a result of these comments.

New 2005 Limit=2004 Limit×(2004 Index/2003 Index)

For all claims arising out of a single accident or occurrence: $2,234,121=2,186,741\times(1.0798/1.0569)$
